"As I say, I am here to help."

"Can I have one of these?" said Bob, lifting up a giant bar of Cadbury's Dairy Milk to show Joe.

Joe laughed. "Of course you can!"

"An excellent choice, gentleman. I have those on special offer today.

Buy ten get one free," said Raj.

"I think we just need one right now, Raj," said Bob.

"Buy five get half a one free?"

"No thanks," said Joe. "How much is it?"

"£3.20 please."

If there were a prize for silly special offers, then Raj would win!

Bob and Joe wanted to buy one bar of Chocolate for £3.20. If Raj had persuaded them to buy ten, just to get one free, how much would they have spent?

What about buying five to get half a bar of chocolate free?

Can you design a poster for Raj's shop, offering the silly special deal of the day?

Bumfresh Towers

'The house was so large it was visible from outer space. It took five minutes just to motor up the drive. Hundreds of newly-planted, hopeful little trees lined the mile-long gravel track. The house had seven kitchens, twelve sitting rooms, forty-seven bedrooms and eighty-nine bathrooms.

Even some of the bathrooms had en-suite bathrooms. And some of those en-suite bathrooms had en-en-suite bathrooms.

Despite living there for a few years, Joe had probably only ever explored around a quarter of the main house. In the endless grounds were tennis courts, a boating lake, a helipad and even a 100m ski-slope complete with mountains of fake snow. All the taps, door handles and even toilet seats were solid gold. The carpets were made from mink fur, he and his dad drank orange squash from priceless antique medieval goblets, and for a while they had a butler called Otis who was also an orang-utan. But he had to be given the sack.'

Can you draw a picture of Bumfresh Towers? What do you think it looks like?

Roll after Roll

'...Mr Spud used to make birthday and Christmas presents for his son from the loo roll inner tubes. Mr Spud never had enough money to buy Joe all the latest toys, but would make him something like a loo-roll racing car, or a loo-roll fort complete with dozens of loo-roll soldiers. Most of them got broken and ended up in the bin. Joe did manage to save a sad looking little loo-roll space rocket, though he wasn't sure why...

"It's the best thing you ever gave me," said Joe.

Dad's eyes clouded over with tears. "But it's just a loo roll with a bit of another loo roll stuck to it," he spluttered.

"I know," said Joe. "But it was made with love. And it means more to me than all the expensive stuff you bought me."

Design a loo roll present for someone you love.

Label all the materials you need.

Give your creation a name.

Can you make it?

The Grubbs

"My dad always used to say the best way to beat bullies is to stand up to them. One day I will."

Bum Boy
Bog Roll Kid
Bottom Billionaire
Master Plop Paper
Bum Wipe Heir
Bob Blob

Both Joe and Bob are picked on by bullies – calling them names, taking food from them or putting them in wheelie bins.

Joe thinks he can solve the problem by paying the Grubbs to leave Bob alone, but they're soon asking for more money and Bob isn't happy with the arrangement.

"You have to realise money can't solve everything, Joe. Maybe Bob would have stood up to the bullies himself, eventually. Money is not the answer!"

In pairs, choose one of you to be Bob and one of you to be one of the Grubbs.

Can you role play the conversation that might take place between them?
How can Bob stand up to the Grubbs?

How about a trillion?

Or even a gazillion?'

What would you put on your birthday present list?
