

Question types: selected

What you need to know

- Selected questions don't ask you to write an answer. For these questions, you need to circle, tick or draw lines.
- The question will usually tell you how many things to tick or circle.
- You need to make your answers clear. If you tick too many answers you may not be given the mark. Make sure that you cross out any changes clearly.
- Read the questions carefully to check for distractors.

Example

Read this text and then look at the questions and answers that follow it.

Eva Peron was the second wife of Argentine president Juan Peron and was the First Lady of Argentina from 1946 to 1952. This was a far cry from her impoverished start to life in 1919. Despite her lowly beginnings, she became a worldwide superstar, partly because of her beauty and her position in Argentina but also because of the Rainbow Tour to Europe in 1947 where she met numerous heads of state and the Pope. Her death at the age of 33 as a result of cancer in 1952 was a shock. Her name is still known throughout the world today because of the musical, Evita, which tells her life story.

1. Eva Peron became the First Lady of Argentina in which year:

Tick one.

1919 1946 1947 1952

Read the question carefully and check the date. Each one is mentioned in the text so the three incorrect answers are there as distractors.

2. Circle the correct option to complete the sentence below.

Eva Peron went to Europe on:

an aeroplane

her own

the Rainbow Tour

a holiday

The Rainbow Tour is the only option that is mentioned in the text.

3. Draw lines to show whether these statements about Eva Peron are true or false in the text.

True

False

She was born into a rich family.

She was married to Juan Peron.

Her death was expected.

No one knows much about her now.

The musical Evita tells her life story.

This is tricky because all of the options are referred to in the text but some have been altered slightly to make them false!
